Bio:

Born in Brooklyn NY later raised in central NJ, Domenick Carino is an ambitious artist who fills the room with truth, melody and simple yet compelling lyrical portraits of life. Domenick Carino is the singer/songwriter next door that people can and do relate to because of his genuine, and sincere approach to making and performing music. He has shared stages with Bruce Springsteen, Jeffrey Gaines, Colin Hay and as well had songs featured in both film and network television.

On stage Domenick reveals an honest and inviting level of intimacy that welcomes the audiences compassion and sing a long participation. Known for his honest and simple approach to song writing, you will find yourself enjoying many if not all songs performed in any given set. Domenick's 2006 release, "Songs About You" and his 2009 release "The only thing that comes to mind are songs about us", are two inviting, gripping collections of songs that have caught the ears of fans throughout the US and Europe. Drawing from many of life's hopes and challenges for inspiration, you will find yourself relating, understanding and embracing his many songs about you.

Notes:

Domenick's music has appeared on Felicity, The OC, and other network TV programs.

Domenick was the former lead singer of the successful rock acts Red Engine Nine and Sunday All-Stars.

This album is Domenick's debut with Fake Chapter Records (Miles Hunt of The Wonder Stuff, Arms and Sleepers, Green To Think, Japan's DMBQ, and others)
